

WEATHER ORACLE SAYS SHOWERS ARE COMING

Whole Country Experiencing Rains: Brighter Weather Promised for May.

The old saying, "April showers bring May flowers" will, according to Doctor Hyatt, the weather man, prove true during the latter part of the month, even if it didn't during the first thirteen days. The greater part of the United States is experiencing light rainfall at the present time. Although the rains are not heavy, they are pretty well distributed over the entire country. In Alberta, 3.4 of an inch of rain fell, while nearly half an inch was reported at Asheville.

A trough of low barometric pressure extended over the plateau, causing light rain or snow over portions of California, Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Nebraska and Wyoming. Another disturbance was central over the lake region, causing precipitation over portions of the Mississippi valley and eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. Over the South Pacific and Arctic States, and central Canada the barometric pressure was high, the Canadian high pressure being accompanied by a moderate cold wave.

The low pressure over this section will cause fairly brisk weather, with local showers and cooler Thursday. Wednesday's record at the local office of the weather bureau for the twenty-four hours, ending at 8 p. m., was as follows:

Temperature at 8 p. m., 72.
Maximum temperature, 74.
Minimum temperature, 62.
Mean temperature, 64, which is 14 degrees above normal.
Total excess of temperature since the first of the month, 48.
Accumulated excess of temperature since January 1, 196 degrees.
Total precipitation since the first of the month, .21 of an inch, which is .80 of an inch below normal.
Accumulated deficiency since January 1, 1.85 inches.
Relative humidity at 8 p. m., 29 per cent.

California John

"John," called the fat supervisor in a half-choked voice. "Yes, Sir," replied the old man. "When you get through that, saddle up and go down and work on that Clay Banks' Trail."

The clay banks were down at the thousand-foot level. At this time of year the thermometer stood, every day, well above a hundred.

"And sizzle there, you meddling old fool!" muttered Supervisor Plant under his breath.

It would appear to us that Supervisor Plant was giving the United States Government the "double cross." There are others.

"California John" is the first of a series of stories, by Stewart Edward White, dealing with the Federal Forest Reserve.

BIG LONDON COMPANY IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

LONDON, April 15.—On an application made by Speyer Bros., the London agents of Speyer & Co. of New York, on behalf of themselves and other holders of the secured temporary loan notes or profit-sharing secured notes of the Underground Electric railways, the court today appointed Sir George Gibb receiver and manager of the company. There was no opposition to the application, which is necessary for the carrying out of the scheme for the readjustment of the company's finances, which has been decided upon.

Mrs. Alvina Spurling, of 134 Cleybourne Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered from female troubles, a tumor and much inflammation. Two of the best doctors in Chicago decided that an operation was necessary to save my life. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely cured me without an operation."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. targets to the competition of the motor omnibus and the municipal-owned electric railways. The district railway, which the late Charles T. Yerkes took over as the basis of a scheme to give Londoners a better transit service, also has been losing money since electricity was installed as a motive power, and the other lines which Mr. Yerkes estimated would be completed early in 1906 are not yet in operation. These lines, therefore, have not provided the revenue expected to meet dividends on the shares.

AMUSEMENTS

IN SALT LAKE THEATERS.

SALT LAKE THEATRE—"When Knights Were Bold." Evening, 8:15.

GRAND THEATRE—"Kidnaped for Revenge." By Theodore Lorch company. Evening, 8:30.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—"Advanced Vandeville." Matinee, 2:15. Evening, 8:15.

LYRIC THEATRE—"A Night in Morocco." By the Zinn company. Evening, 8:15.

"When Knights Were Bold," the successful comedy in which Charles Frohman is presenting Francis Wilson this season, is said to be a play that keeps the audience in rare good humor. The central idea is a man who is retrograded from the Twentieth century back to the time when Richard the Lion Hearted was the English king, and who persists in regarding everything which occurs from an absolutely up-to-date point of view. Naturally this offers the star almost unlimited opportunities for funmaking. At the end of the second act he has a duel with a rival knight on his hands, both in full armor, but Wilson ends this by throwing off his own and, avoiding his ponderous antagonist, proceeds to knock him out with a series of "upper cuts" that would do credit to any trained pugilist. The role of Sir Gray the Vere is said to fit Mr. Wilson extremely well, better, in fact, than any part he has played since he went in for straight comedy at the Lyric. It would be a rather unfortunate thing not to see "A Night in Morocco," which is running through the week down at the little South Main street house. Sunday evening sees the Zinn company make its farewell bow to Salt Lake, and the best things in "A Night in Morocco" is the little song and dance of Nadine St. Clair, a wee bit of beauty, which the best things would make many a professional envious.

Packed houses greet the bill at the Orpheum. There are several headliners on the programme. Then there is the Orpheum orchestra and the kinodrome, all which add to the pleasure of the entertainment. There are daily matinees.

At the Grand, "Kidnaped for Revenge," with Theodore Lorch as Prince, there are packed houses every night. The bill will run the week, with matinee on Saturday.
